

The Colonnade

VOL. X

GEORGIA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN, MILLEDGEVILLE, GA., NOVEMBER 5, 1934

NUMBER 4.

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION AT NESBITT'S ATTRACTS MANY

Ramsey Has Big Ovation From Girls

Fulton High Principal Enthralls Students; Literature is His Subject

"The Value of Literature" was the subject selected by Professor R. L. Ramsey, principal of the Fulton High School, for his talk before the G. S. C. W. student body last Wednesday morning.

Beginning with the lines from Wilbur Dick Nesbit, "Who hath a book has but to read, and he may be a king indeed," Professor Ramsey told his audience of the benefits derived from good literature as he has found them after many years of study of the classics.

"Familiarity with the masters of literature gives the power of self-expression and that, after all, is what we are seeking," declared Professor Ramsey. "We find expressed by the great masters thoughts to which we ourselves could never give expression."

Secondly Professor Ramsey discussed the appeal to idealism of good literature. "It is in the reading of good literature that our aspirations soar highest and our highest ideals are reached." He recalled to the audience Browning's lines in which he said: "Ah, but a man's reach should be higher than his grasp, or what's a heaven for?"

The greatest value of good literature, thinks Professor Ramsey, lies in its revelation of the fundamental things that are wrapped up in the character of human life. As an example of the richness of character study found in great writings the speaker portrayed the character of Jean Valjean, the convict of Victor Hugo's Les Misérables.

Professor Ramsey next spoke of the enlargement of the circumference of our lives by a familiarity with the delineated characters of Scott, Dickens, and Shakespeare.

"Of all of Shakespeare's characters," the professor told his audience, "the one who grips me most is the great dark Moor of Venice."

(Continued on page 5)

Fifteenth Annual Hike Proves To Be Unusual and Happy

Doctors Academy Meets Wednesday

Dr. Francis Daniels entertained members of the doctors academy Wednesday evening at his home. This was the first meeting of the year.

Among those present were: Dr. Francis Daniels, Dr. J. L. Beeson; Dr. Edwin H. Scott; Dr. Beatrice I. Nevins; Dr. Thomas B. Meadows; Dr. Euri Belle Bolton; Dr. Amanda Johnson; Dr. Sidney McGee; Dr. W. C. Sally; Dr. William T. Wynn; and Dr. H. I. Lindsey. Among those who are eligible to the academy and were invited are: Dr. Hoy Taylor; Dr. Harry A. Little; Dr. Guy H. Wells; and Dr. E. G. Cornelius.

Commissioners Come To Croppers at Calloway Woods

Hail, students! Now we have two "sheroes" in the camp! A flashlight revealed a striking scene on Friday night when the sophomore commissioners attempted to do a "dark walk" across a foot-log at Calloway woods. The spotlight arrived just in time to illuminate two barefooted, disheveled figures scaling the treacherous bank of a creek and pulling Polly Moss and Myra Jenkins "up from the depths of certain dampness."

The commissioners had their regular meeting and a picnic supper on a hill overlooking this famous creek. Time refused to be stopped during an interesting discussion around the fire thus, causing the "disaster." Seeing that darkness had settled over the woods and no moon was aiding humanity, the commissioners swiftly made plans to depart. Everyone lighted "original" torches and began the "well known hill slide" to the stream. Those in the lead hurried on ahead so as to get back to the campus in time for the "famous taxi" to relay and "pick up" the remaining few. In the meantime, the "left" victims were crossing the unknown depths of a rushing stream. Polly and Myra re-

(Continued on page 3)

Wading, Swimming, Eating Offered For Afternoon's Amusements; Skits Given.

The annual hike, the most eagerly anticipated and most thoroughly enjoyed social event of each year, was held on Thursday, October 25 at traditional Treanor's meadow on the banks of the Oconee river. G. S. C. W. freshman, sophomores, and juniors, dismissed from their afternoon classes, met at three o'clock in front of Terrell and Bell dormitories. The usual line formed there was unique this year in the conspicuous absence of the brown and white ensemble, formerly G. S. C. W.'s favorite hiking costume.

The long line proceeded from the campus down Hancock street to the new causeway. En route the town people turned out in a body to witness another annual hike. All along the way members of the senior class presided at stations where food of all shapes, sizes, and varieties were given out. Several kinds of fruit and brands of candy, assorted cookies, peanuts, and popcorn were distributed lavishly by the obliging seniors.

Finally, loaded with provender the ranks reached the meadow, the scene of so many similar events. Just at the entrance, huge stalks of sugar cane were given out. Moses and his rod had nothing on the "Jessies" with their sugar canes.

Since wading in the Oconee is a favorite annual hike sport, the girls were soon shedding shoes and socks. Due to the cool temperature of the past few days the water was quite chilly so many were "standing with reluctant feet" at the edge but others waded boldly out into the stream. Some (from all appearances, even attempted to swim.

By this time appetites were beginning to re-assert themselves, so supper was served. Planned by the wise and capable food committee, composed of Mr. L. S. Fowler, bur-sar, Mrs. Effie Pierratt and Mrs. J. M. Hall, dietitians, the menu included hot dogs and punch.

When everyone was seated and appetites sufficiently appeased for the time being, the "Pep Band," directed by Nellie Womack Hines, presented a musical program of old favorites.

At dark a huge bon-fire was kindled. Miss Polly Moss, in charge of entertainment, then presented the program consisting of clever skits put on by each dormitory under the direction of the respective house presidents. Bell Hall won first place for the best stunt—a band of mourners visiting the graves of six faculty members to read the epitaphs inscribed on the head stones. Ennis Hall's "Naughty But Nice Night Club" took second

(Continued on page 3)

Hallowe'en Carnival Given at Nesbitt Wood By Members Y.W.C.A.

Annual Hike Brings Back Fond Memories

It was a grand hike—but will any annual hike ever equal that famous one of '33? Even though that affair turned out all wet, it was a privilege to have been present. Who can ever forget the clammy feel of rain-soaked uniform shirts as 1100 "Jessies" streamed (literally!) home in a torrent of rain? Did food ever taste as good as those hot dogs—toasted to remove dampness? Will the ludicrous sight of shrunken brown skirts that greeted the campus next day ever fade? That was a hike to remember! There will never be another like it!

Student Meeting Held Wednesday

The student government association held its first meeting in the auditorium Wednesday evening. The purpose of this meeting was to acquaint the freshmen and other new students with the type of meetings.

Francis Sanchez, president of Atkinson, briefly gave the purpose of the dormitory court. This was followed by a discussion of the upper court by Catherine Mallory, president of the sophomore class, and of the duties of the vice-president by Viola James. Billie Jennings pointed out the duties of the clerk of the court, and Emily Cowart those of the student point recorder. Grace Webb summed up her duties as secretary and treasurer of the association. This was followed by a summary of the duties of Kathleen Roberts, recorder of chapel tardies, given by Elizabeth Pollard, president of the organization.

Dr. Bolton, Dr. Taylor, and Miss Adams, the advisors, gave short talks.

Commission Thrills Students With Rollicking Riot; Midway, Palmist, Rides Offered

Hundreds of girls decked in gay holiday costumes, trilling shrilly on whistles and tooting horns gustily amid clouds of confetti, made Government Square Park a very gala spot Wednesday afternoon for the Halloween carnival sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. of G. S. C. W.

The several booths were filled with throngs of students, among whom faculty members mingled with equal enthusiasm. Vendors of popcorn, candy, peanuts, and apples shouted forth their wares. From the House of Horrors came shrieks of laughter and bewildered merriment as the members of sophomore commission carried the participants through the "rollicking riot." In another part of the park other merry-makers kept a "flying Jenny" in full motion. Every where students munched popcorn and peanuts and drank dopes tantalizingly, while loud-voiced salesmen urged them to buy chances on a cake. At intervals the familiar yellow roadster of the campus and a wagon drawn by a somewhat delapidated horse made their rounds, offering rides for the price of five cents.

Beyond the House of Horrors with its thrills and surprises were the booths of the Midway, with such names as the Green Goose, Western Hold-up, For Men Only, For Women Only. Especially good was the zoo, sponsored by the C. W. E. A. fortune-teller told young hopefuls about their latest heart-throbs and the thrills awaiting them on the coming free week-end. Across the bridge hot-dog and cold drink stands were kept busy.

At 7:30 a picnic supper of hot dogs, doughnuts, fruit, and punch was served, much to the enjoyment of those who had not already partaken too heartily of candy, pea-

(Continued on page 3)

G. S. C. Observes Education With Chapel Program Series

The fourteenth annual American Education Week will be observed on the G. S. C. W. campus November 5-11. This occasion is celebrated each year during the week that includes Armistice Day, beginning on Monday and ending on Sunday. As future teachers, educators the lives of the students on this campus are dedicated to the betterment of mankind through knowledge and skill.

The Education club of G. S. C. W. offers the following program in celebration of Education Week with the sincere desire that it will bring some new comfort or growth to each student at this college:

Monday, November 5—Faculty Day.

Talks will be made by Dean Hoy Taylor and Dr. Harry A. Little, head of the education department.

Tuesday, November 6—Visitor's Day. Dr. Guy H. Wells has invited Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins college to speak to the stu-

(Continued on page 4)

Lost and Found Column May Be Added for Campus Welfare

Have you ever stopped to think at night just what and how much you have lost or found during the day? If you're like the average student you have at least misplaced or found something; a pencil, a handkerchief, a book, a fountain pen. These are not the only things, either. Time is a thing which can easily be lost but hard to find.

"Making time" is difficult in some cases, too; speaking from experience of course.

The following "lost and found"

articles have come to our attention:

Nellie Burgin just couldn't take that week-end in Atlanta and lost an hour sleeping through history class Monday morning. (Perhaps she thinks it was well lost.)

"Red" Edison lost an A. T. O. bracelet at the Mercer dance Friday night and had her date looking for another man's gift. He found it, too.

Tecoa Harner evidently found that "someone" in that blind date

(Continued on page 3)

The Colonnade

Published Weekly By Students of The GEORGIA STATE COLLEGE
FOR WOMEN

Corner Hancock and Clark Sts.
Milledgeville, Ga.

"Entered as second-class matter October 30, 1928, at the post office, Milledgeville, Ga.,
under the Act of March 3, 1879."

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor-in-Chief ..... Betty Reed
Associate Editor ..... Marion Hartsborn
News Editors ..... Evelyn Aubrey and Louise Doneho

Feature Editor ..... Julia Franklin

"Y" Editor ..... Jane Casells

Reporters:

Doris Adamson, Anna Delia Brown,
Frances Cowan, Martha Franklin,
Grace Greene, Doris Grossman, Elizabeth Henry, Adelia Jackson, Mildred Parker, Odene Peavy, Winnie Shepherd, Marjorie Shuman, Marjorie Smith, Sara Speir.

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager ..... Anne Arnett
Exchange Editor ..... Jeanne Wythe
Circulation Manager ..... Garnette Lyons

To Mr. Fowler

IN APPRECIATION

"Great cheer our host made for us all,
And brought us to supper anon.
He served us with the best of victual,
A seemly man our host was withal,
Fit to be marshal in a banquet hall,
A large man he was with bright eyes,
Lacking naught of manhood, discreet and wise."

—Chaucer's Prologue

Again on the day of the annual hike we found ourselves, after most tantalizing halts
at filling stations along the way, lolling at last in a meadow and investigating the contents of our well-filled sacks, boxes, or what-have-you. We munched cakes and grapes, delayed conversation with caramels, exercised our molars in joints of sugar cane, and sandwiched the sweets a while with salty, savory potato chips. Meanwhile we meditated on the one who had planned all this food and fun and fellowship—Mr. Fowler.

Is he the Pied Piper who piped us out of town for an afternoon of gaiety? Maybe we know somewhere in his vestments he carries
a magic wand which can produce an amazing hoard of delectables at a moment's notice;
he says a magic "Open, Sesame," and there
pours forth refreshment enough to pale the treasure of forty thieves! He rides the magic flying carpet to see that everyone everywhere gets his share of fun.

He may have gone unslept in his endless,
detailed planning of fun for thirteen hundred persons, but he shall not go "unhonored" and "unsung." How can thirteen hundred persons ever thank him for his gracious effort in their behalf? The thoroughgoing efficiency which he manifests on the occasion of the annual hike is characteristic of the wholehearted service he renders G. S. C. W. three hundred and sixty-five days in the year.

LITTLE GIRL

Little girl, don't dream too much,
Bubbles burst at the slightest touch;
Don't sigh too much, for just a tear
Can wring a youthful heart, my dear.
Little girl, don't laugh too long,
For laughter can be sold for a song;
Just live lightly, free to choose,
And you'll have no dreams to lose.

A Spot of Beauty

It has been the aim of G. S. C. W. during the past years to add gradually valuable assets to the campus. The latest and perhaps the most attractive is the Formal Garden between Parks Hall and Arts building. This plot was formerly the location of Main building which was destroyed by fire in December, 1925.

This is now one of the most beautiful spots
on the campus. Although open publicly,
this inspirational view gives a feeling of seclusion to observers. It is a place of rest and calm in our hurrying campus world, a place of satisfaction for the tired or restless mind. The orderliness of its plan gives one a sense of balance in the chaos of daily living.

The garden is laid out in the form of a rectangle with rounded edges. In the center is located a natural stone lily pool illuminated
by neon gas. Surrounding the pool is a flagstone walk. At each end of the garden are two stone circular benches and a stone table.
Along the lengths are planted Royal Italian Cypress and Dwarf Boxwood. At the ends
the shrubbery consists of: Florida Dogwood;
Sargent's Barberry; Bridalwreath; Primrose
Jasmin; Heavenly Bamboo; and Tiftzer's Juniper. A background of Royal Italian Cypress and two stone urns further accentuates
the lily pool.

We students realize the value of this addition to our campus and wish to express our appreciation. We recognize the fact that this was done for the College and we as students of the College intend to keep perfect this gift to the best of our ability. This can be done only through the cooperation of each individual. For example: students should be careful in walking around the garden not to trample
on the shrubbery. This is a project which was able to mature only through systematic organization and expenditure of money. We may keep this garden beautiful and attractive through consideration and carefulness on our part.

Living With Art

America's trite "playtoy" phrase that we are living in "an age of hurry and worry" is true in spite of the fact that every problem,
which we are unable to solve is blamed on this
"too fast living." Every word of those two phrases is vital to the general public and particularly to the college student. We have been so intent on getting somewhere that we haven't much cared what we were passing on the way or what we wanted after
all. Those older than we have already said that the most worthwhile things in life are those things that we have been too busy or too careless to see. Someone has said that the reason we have failed to see these values is our lack of appreciation for the most worthwhile efforts. The goal of speed and the object of success have completely smothered living!

Art is perhaps the one phase of life which has not reached enough people. Except for its existence, Art has been almost entirely ignored by the general mass of people. Only contact with the essence of any value can give one an understanding and appreciation for that particular field. We often acknowledge the existence of a certain worth without really knowing what it is or what its relation to us and our age of living can be. Art is living!
We see it every day and do not realize it. Art has a definite relationship to contribute and
necessary benefits to enrich life—personal,
professional, and civic.

We Saw

Miss Sutton chewing sugar cane.
Three girls putting a crying kitten in Dr.
Little's office and then running.

Dr. Little playing basket-ball—guard on one side and forward on the other side in the game.

Seven seniors breakfasting at the Baldwin
Hotel Saturday.

Four girls taking the picture of another
after having cramming her in a trash can.

One girl making a wild dash for the exit
after declaring she smelled smoke in a recent fire drill.

Two girls falling down after trying to demonstrate their unusual skating skill.
Some hilarious students after their invite to the masquerade.

A freshman spending the night out in an other dormitory and forgetting to tell either matron about her intentions.

("Snow") on the campus last week.

More food than the law allows on Wednesday night—being as how Wednesday night
is the off-day.

Aid of F E R A

There are one hundred and twenty four students at the Georgia State College for Women who are going through their school year
with the aid of funds supplied by the Federal Relief Administration. It is the primary purpose of the FERA to increase the number of college students in the various universities
and colleges in the United States and so decrease the number of people looking for jobs.

Last year approximately 75,000 over the United States were aided by federal relief funds. This year the federal government, in starting the FERA plan for college students
relief, is continuing a plan which was in operation last spring.

The type of work which the employed students may do to earn the relief money has been greatly broadened this year. The work last year dealt with specialized subjects in which the government was interested. However, this year the various universities can employ students in libraries, in offices, and in individual schools and departments. Students may be assigned to work off the campus. This will increase the usefulness of the college for the community.

Harry L. Hopkins, FERA administrator, said in a letter to state relief administrators
authorizing the furnishing of money for the following purposes:

"Funds allotted shall be used to pay students for doing socially desirable work, including the sort customarily done in the institution by students who are working their way through college, such as clerical, library,
and research work. Regular class instruction shall be excluded, but students may be assigned to extension, adult education, recreation, and other activities that increase the usefulness of the college to the community.
Each institution shall pass on the acceptability of its own projects. All jobs must be under the direct charge of the institution."

The possibilities opened up by the FERA are unlimited.

The great need of present day education,
as is seen by many, is to make the transition from college education to practical work for a practical salary easier. If the FERA can teach students to learn the practical side of business as well as the theoretical views taught in college, the enormous amount of federal funds expended will be amply repaid.

Social service work has been aided by the federal funds. In the service lines are education, recreation, health, welfare, public-administration, research.

Ima GOSSIP

Have y'all heard? There's a girl
on our campus named Polly and there are several others who spell,
write and pronounce their names
just like she does. Semes incredible—specially when we realize that every other person's name in this "Beulahland" (a la "Eddie") and some more of her variety) is Mary.

Anyway, believe you me—and stuff like that—a great discovery
was made when one of the rating
Pollys received a package—so says
Carolyn Wade. She and her pals were thrilled to nubs when they dashed in at mail time and found that Polly had a box! Oh boy, at last it had come! Visions of cake and all its accessories danced
through their heads and their aching voids were immediately filled with a huge appetite.

When Polly wanted a cracker
she gingerly opened "her latest thrill," put her OK on a huge piece of cake and ordered her cronies to follow suit—just to keep her company.

The minutes flew, time went
by, food passed and all were getting under weigh when someone's gulp and a glance
at the address on the cover
gave them enlargement of the eyes. What! Is there another Polly around here? What does she do when people get her packages by mistake? Has it ever happened before? No!
And it'll never happen again—
even if Polly was a swell sport. That's one time a bunch got their "fill" of another person's box—eh Carolyn?

And so as Myra Jenkins would observe, "Twas a gorgeous box—
But!!

We thought "Eddie" Edwards
had gotten mercenary on us when she told us that if we wanted to get in a picture show free of charge to walk backwards and
"the man" would think we were coming out. All well and good, but the next joke she pulled was better. Oh boy!! What a sense of humor! Sense? Well, humor—anyway.

If you're growing old and feel
your wits getting "knitzy" come to the "Just-Before-Dinner Gathering" outside of the dining-hall
some day and join the nits who have gotten witty. Ten to one you'll laugh as much at "Eddie's" jokes
as she does. Maybe we'd better say, "ten to two," 'cause it takes some people twenty minutes to
"catch-catch."

Have y'all heard that "Cut-tie" Sutton can "go" just like
one of the faculty members?
"Matter of fact is" they say she's pretty good! Maybe it's her study in psychology—of personality that makes "Cutie"
the life of the party, even
when she leaves her saxophone
at home.

Say-didja know that one of our English profs said he had enough sentences saved up to fill two or three books? Whew—what a figure of speech he'll be when he really starts talking. Maybe the freshman who tried to take student council as her third course
and couldn't get in would enjoy an elective in this class next quarter.
I'll bet it'll be the "talk" of the town!!

Confessing,
IMA GOSSIP

G. S. C. W. Students Attend G. M. C. Dance

One hundred students from G.
S. C. W. attended the Halloween
dance given at G. M. C. last Friday night in the G. M. C. gymnasium from 8 till 11 o'clock.

The main room was decorated in orange and black paper and rustic corn stalks. A huge half-moon beamed down from the corner opposite the orchestra pit.

Favors were given at the end of the grand march which was led by Captain Sanders and Miss Dorothy Hesters, Cairo.

First prize for the most attractive costume was awarded to Miss Maurine Kinney, Milledgeville.
Miss Mary Adams, Boston; Miss
Alice Duncan, Dublin; and Miss Frances Muldrow, Milledgeville,
received honorable mention for their costumes.

Commissioners

(Continued from page 1)
mained on the other side to extinguish the fire and just as the last spark of fire was smothered
all of the "above mentioned" torches" died in the chill of the night.
The setting was sufficient for the scene! Polly and Myra lost their sense of direction and started off toward "no man's land." The commissioners on the other side heard
the snapping of twigs and frantically began the futile search for the foot-leg. One commissioner
"jerked off" her shoes and after giving orders to another to do the same and to stand by, she plunged through the icy depths of the stream to the opposite bank. She immediately overtook the "wanderers" and guided them back to the stream. Gropping hands found the log and the rescuer again
waded through the water guiding the "stray ones" on the log while her assistant met them and pulled them to safety. In order to secure a flashlight another noble helper
had "given chase" to Dr. McGee who had also been "camping nearby on the old favorite grounds"
with the French Club. Her effort was rewarded and she arrived just in time to witness the last phase of the escapade.

To Live With Myself

I have to live with myself and so
I want myself to be fit to know,
I want to be able as days go by
To look myself straight in the eye.
I don't want to stand with the setting sun,
And hate myself for the things I've
done;

I don't want to keep on the closet
shelf
A lot of secrets about myself,
And fool myself as I come and go,
Into thinking no one else will
know

The kind of a woman I really am.
I don't want my life to be a sham.
I have to live with myself and so I want to be fit for myself to
know.

HAT SHOP BESSIE BLAND'S HAT SHOP

Sweaters in Newest Autumn
Shades Arriving Daily

HAYES DRUG STORE

FREE—One bowl and 2 goldfish with every purchase of 50c
bottle of antiseptic mouth
wash.

Annual Hike

(Continued from page 1)

place. Other stunts given were a pantomime melodrama by Atkinson, "Eat, Drink, and Be Merry"
by Bell Annex, "And They Laughed and Laughed" by Mansion, a faculty take-off by Terrell proper, a dramatization of "Lochinvar"
by Terrell A, and "G. S. C. W.
Past, Present, and Future" by Terrell B and C.

When the signal to leave was given, all rose reluctantly. What a shame such pleasure comes but once a year! The annual hike was over for another year. Not quite though, for when the completely
full and consequently supremely
happy girls arrived at the gates of
"home" another surprise awaited
them in the form of ice-cream
served under the lights.

The seniors were a bit sad—it was their last annual hike; the juniors and sophomores were happy at the prospects of hikes yet to come; the freshmen were quite the most privileged group of all—they had three more hikes to enjoy. The sentiments of all were something like this (to paraphrase James Russell Lowell).

"Oh what is so rare as an annual hike?
Then if ever comes a perfect
day."

ODORLESS CLEANERS

Phone 559

ONE DAY SERVICE
FREE DRY CLEANING
For MIROAM COOPER

CHANDLER'S

Archer Brand Hose
Sheer Chiffon
Chiffon
Service Weight
69c & 89c
Newest Shades Including
Blues and Navys

SPECIAL REDUCTION

On Personality Stationery
this week, 49c per box, including name or monogram.

WOOTEN'S BOOK STORE

It's time to think about Christmas and the friends
on your gift list. Your photograph is the most personal, the most appreciated of all gifts.

THE EBERHART STUDIO

Absent-Minded Prof. Comes to the Front

Another reason for mumbering
"absent-minded professor" was given when Dr. Wynn dashed into his classroom one day recently,
quite out of breath, and immediately began apologizing to the class.

"You'll have to pardon me young ladies, I really intended to be on time to-day, but I had some unexpected business to come up at the last minute, and it had to be attended to." He placed his matterial on the desk and turned to face the students. He was immediately struck by the startled expressions on the rows of faces before him. "Young ladies"—he began, and then caught sight of Miss Hallie Smith, standing at the back of the room, regarding him in amused silence.

Dr. Wynn's face broke into smiles as he realized his mistake.
"Now, I do have to apologize for getting the time mixed up; but I knew something was wrong, the girls on the front row are much better looking." As Dr. Wynn took his leave, a sophomore was heard to sigh, "He certainly has a way
with him!"

WANTED

An important christening is about to take place. This event will be of vital importance to the entire student body and will take place in the G. S. C. W. formal garden immediately after its completion.

A personal appeal has been made by Professor O. A. Thaxton when he spoke with great earnestness and fervor as he made his plea to the students.

He spoke and his words have not gone unheeded. The words peit-ed meaningfully upon the ears of several students as they lounged
near the pool in the center of the garden.

"The goldfish, the goldfish, who has bestowed upon them even one name? They must be dignified by proper and fitting names before
many moons pass."

It was not the duty of those girl
listening to thrust themselves forward and deprive the entire student body of their rightful privilege of naming these little fish.
Instead of brazenly naming the fish, they valiently bestow the honor upon the students of G. S.
C. W.

Students of the Georgia State College for Women, we appeal to you! Spare these fish the ignominy of going nameless! Realize the great opportunity for a noble deed that has arrived at your threshold; and act accordingly.

"Why Barren Land?" Asks Russian Girl Of Georgia Students

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 12.
Nadya Semasko, daughter of a sian priest, has just come from her home in South River, New Jersey, to enter the Freshman class of the Georgia State College for Women.
She heard about the college here
through friends, and although she lives within five miles of the New Jersey State College for Women,
she chose to come to the Georgia
school.

She is not planning to go home
before next June, and on account of the distance, her family is not planning a visit here. "But I am not homesick," she assures any inquirer. "I came to study. Only cry-babies weep."

The pretty Russian girl, whose name means in Russia one of the three Christian graces, Hope, understands Russian and speaks it a little. Her father is a priest of the Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church, which has been abolished in Russia, but which has numbers of faithful adherents in this country. Her mother is a native of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.
She has one brother, eleven-year-
old Boris Semasko.

She finds the people in the south hospitable, the food a little different, and the climate delighful. Asked what impressed her as being the strangest thing she had seen, she quickly replied, "The barren lands! The riding for hours without seeing a city. What do you do with all these barren lands?"
Mrs. J. T. Terry, personnel secretary of the college, said that the Russian girl came to the Milledgeville college with the highest references as to her character and scholarship.

Faculty Members Give Tea for Students

Miss Lena Martin, member of the chemistry faculty, and Miss Hallie Smith, member of the English faculty, entertained with a delightful informal tea Tuesday afternoon at their apartment.
The guests included the members of their respective freshmen
classes. Delicious refreshments were served by members of the chemistry club.

Misses Smith and Brooks Speak to Class

Miss Hallie Smith and Miss Mary Brooks spoke to Dr. Thomas B. Meadows' Bible Study Class recently. Miss Brooks gave a talk on the Bible as a guide for the Sunday school teacher, and Miss Smith talked on the regular lesson.

Musical Organization Chooses Leaders

At a recent meeting of the Schubert music club the following officers were elected:

President, Miss Mildred Brin-
son, Sylvania; vice-president, Miss Louise Ennis, Griffin; secretary,
Miss Ida Williams, Macon.

The Schubert music club is composed of students in the upper classes who are taking voice and piano. Miss Alice Lenore Tucker
is the adviser.

The freshman music club, composed of first year students in piano and voice, has chosen for its officers Miss Catherine Hopkins, Griffin, president; Miss Beverly Cone, Decatur, vice-president; Miss Catherine Hatcher, Griffin, secretary; Miss Alice West, Decatur, treasurer.

"Home Owned" Car Ousted in Battle With Town Taxis

Competition on the campus
reached its peak last week, in the strife between our "home owned"
car and the town taxis. When so many of the students were overcome with that horrible fever,
a noble-minded young woman decided to make use of the ford that remains stolidly parked in front of Terrell Hall. Those business-like creatures bubbled over with effervescent enthusiasm at the idea, and although they didn't exactly ask people to get sick they let it be known that, in case any such thing happened, they would gladly take all patients to the hospital for a dime.

Oh! this mercenary world! But then one hates to charge a friend
even a dime. The campus taxi owners seemed to have too many friends whom they wouldn't charge; and, so the taxi business,
like so many other good enterprises went into bankruptcy. That is, probably, until the next epidemic.

COLONIAL

F. D. ADAMS, Mgr.

Mon. Tues.,
Nov. 5-6
Norma
Shearer
Frederick

Norma Shearer March
Charles Laughton in
"The Barretts of Wimpole Streets"

With Maureen O'Sullivan KETA
With Maureen O'Sullivan
Katherine Alexander

Wednesday, Nov. 7
Ann Harding in
"The Fountain"
With Bruin Aherne, Paul Lukas
Jean Hersholt

Thurs, Fri., Nov. 8-9

Pep Band Meeting Held on Tuesday

The "Pep Band," directed by Mrs. Nellie Womack Hines, held its organization meeting under the dogwood tree at 5:30 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, October 30.

The first meeting of the band, held last week for membership and practice, showed a composition of harps, ukuleles, jazz horns, and one banjo.

The purpose is to contribute added entertainment on occasions when there is no provision for a regular orchestra. The first step toward this purpose was a public appearance of the "Pep Band" at the Halloween Carnival, Wednesday evening, October, 31. Definite plans for further entertainments will be made in the near future.

Friendship

I love you not only for what you are, but for what I am when I am with you.

I love you, not only for what you have made of yourself, but what you are making of me.

I love you for the part of me that you bring out.

I love you for putting your hand into my heaped-up heart and passing all the frivolous and weak things that you cannot help seeing there, and drawing out into the light all the beautiful, radiant things that no one else has looked quite far enough to find.

I love you for ignoring the possibilities of the fool in me and for laying firm hold of the possibilities of good in me.

I love you because you are helping me to make of the lumber of my life, not a tavern, but a temple and of the words of my every day, not a reproach, but a song.

I love you because you have done more than any creed could have done to make me happy.

You have done it without a word, without a sign—

You have done it by just being yourself.

After all, perhaps this is what being a friend means.

We Specialize in Ladies Ready-to-Wear, Millinery and Ladies Fine Shoes.

We sell Julius Kayser's Gloves, Ladies Silk Underwear, Ladies Silk Hose.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST SHOP AT

E. E. Bell's

New Books Added To G. S. C. Library

Miss Virginia Satterfield, librarian of the Ina Dillard Russell library, has been very successful in the past summer months in securing for the students of G. S. C. W. some recent editions of current books. These include not only the latest fiction and non-fiction works but all the Pulitzer prize books of 1934.

The prize books are: "Lamb in His Bosom," by Carolyn Miller. This book, written by a Georgia woman, is the author's first attempt at writing. It portrays the life of a pioneer family in the south.

"Men in White," by Sidney Kingsley. This, the story of a doctor's life, has been made into a very successful moving picture.

"Collected Verse," by Robert Hillier. This is a collection of best selections of poetry.

"The People's Choice," by Herbert Agar. An up-to-the-minute history of America.

"John Hay," by Tyler Dennett. Other additions of fictions include:

"Lantern in Her Hand," by Bess S. Aldrich.

"The Ginger Griffin" by Ann Bridge.

"The Mother," by Pearl S. Buck.

"Magnificent Obsession," by Lloyd Douglas.

"Superstition Corner," by Sheila Kay-Smith.

"Cat's Paw," by C. B. Kelland.

"Ogden's Strong Story," by Edson Marshall.

"Work of Art," by Sinclair Lewis.

"Four Days Wonder," by A. A. Milne.

"The Gallows of Chance," by E. Phillips Oppenheim.

"Sea Level," by Ann Parrish.

"Unfurnished Cathedral," by T. S. Stribling.

"Breakfast in Bed," by Sylvia Thompson.

Additions of non-fiction are:

"The Economy of Abundance," by Stuart Chase.

"The Choice Before Us," by Norman Thomas.

"Mary, Queen of Scots," by Marshall Anderson.

"American Costume Book," by F. H. Heirs.

"You Must Relax," by Edmund Jacobson.

"They All Sang," by E. B. Marks.

"Tomorrow's Money," by F. A. Vanderlip.

"Windows on Henry Street," by L. D. Weld.

"Backward Glances," by Edith Wharton.

"While Rome Burns," by Alexander Woolcott.

The Teachers' Exchange

No, it is not a teachers' agency. Yet, in its true sense it is, since it embraces the two-fold purpose of bringing together, through correspondence, schools needing teachers and teachers wanting positions. This service is entirely free to the students.

"QUALITY HAS NO SUBSTITUTE"

BINFORD'S DRUG STORE

THE CLEANEST FOUNT IN TOWN

Button Parade

Button, button, who has the button? Some four hundred Jessies answered that question Monday to the tune of approximately nine hundred and eighty seven buttons.

Buttons, buttons, buttons, everywhere, but not a one to spare. The campus seemed fairly ablaze with buttons—big buttons, little buttons, square ones, lone ones, round ones, representing every color in the spectrum. Navy blue and brown ones led in numbers, with silver ones running a close second.

Individuality, so we've heard, is what all women try to achieve; but one hundred and fourteen students on this campus have the same idea of originality, according to the census takers—or button counters. Buttons running in the front of skirts were the choice of sixty-five girls who wanted to be "different," while forty-nine chose skirts with buttons chasing down the back. (It's a hard life, girls, but everybody can't be different.)

"We cannot tell a lie," quoth the Jessies, "we have the buttons."

"Y" Presents Budget To Student Body Through Chapel Skit

The finance committee of the Y. W. C. A. presented its yearly budget in chapel in the form of a skit.

Ruth Vinson, president of the Y. W. C. A., was appealed to by the following officers and executives: Jane Cassels, Mary Dan Ingram, Dot Allen, Doris Adamson, Regellen Walker, Louise Donnehue, Nan Glass, Wilda Slappey, Margaret Edwards, and Elizabeth Smith.

These officers were referred to Eloise Kauffman, finance chairman, who in turn asked help from the student body.

The Y. W. C. A. budget, that was presented to the student body was made out by the "Y" executives, Miss Mary Moss, and Dean E. H. Scott.

ALWAYS — SOMETHING SMART

SOMETHING NEW IN LADIES SHOES, HOSE AND READY-TO-WEAR.

COLLEGE
DEPARTMENT STORE

Your Satisfaction Our Aim

Education Week

(Continued from page 1)
dent body and faculty. Dr. Holt is an educator skilled in his work as head of a large school, as well as being a man of wide practical experience.

Wednesday, November — Student's Day. The chapel exercises will be opened with the members of the student body singing "America the Beautiful." Miss Martha Geisler, Atlanta, will speak on the subject, "Music and Art." Miss Natalie Purdom, Blackshear, will render a violin solo, followed by a short talk by Miss Elizabeth Jamison, Savannah, on the subject, "Beautification of Parks and Cities." A short skit will complete the program.

Sunday, November 11—Church Day. Rev. A. G. Harris, of the Presbyterian church will speak on "Enriching Character Through Education." This talk will complete the series of programs in celebration of Education Week.

Oratorio Society Meets on Tuesday

The Oratorio society held its regular meeting on Tuesday September 30, with a full attendance. A nominating committee for electing officers was appointed by Miss Tucker and the regular officers will be made known in the near future. This group was honored by a visit from Dr. M. S. Pittman, president of S. G. T. C. at Statesboro and Dr. Guy H. Wells.

Dr. Pittman gave a splendid talk on the value of music. He also expressed the opinions that music brings out appreciations that no other art can. Dr. Wells said a few words about his hopes for the success of the society and complimented Miss Tucker on the progress thus far.

P. V. A. Meeting Held on Tuesday

The P. V. A. (Punctured Arm Veterans) had its second meeting Tuesday night October 30, and it was a howling success. The meeting was called to order by Dr. W. M. Scott. Those desiring a souvenir of the occasion marched proudly up and formed a line, where they very carefully rolled up their sleeves as if to appear brave and attentive.

After each member had secured her souvenir the meeting was adjourned. Now all of the club members are looking forward to the next meeting which will be held next Tuesday night. We wish them much success and hope that no classes are missed as a result of the arm souvenirs known to many as the typhoid shots.

Safety First

The occupants of 30 Bell believe in safety first. One of the rules for correctly carrying out a fire drill is to carry a wet towel to wrap around ones face to prevent being smothered by smoke. The aforementioned girls are afraid that they won't be able to get a towel when the fire alarm rings so they keep one tacked right outside their door. Above it is a sign which reads, "In case of fire only." Under it is a glass of water from which some kind soul dampens the towel at intervals during the day. There's no danger of four such fast thinking girls being trapped in a burning building.

Atlanta Club Holds Meeting on Tuesday

At a called meeting of the Atlanta club on October 29, Elizabeth Stuckey was elected treasurer; Catherine Johnson, chairman of the program committee; and McArva Allen, chairman of the social committee. Other officers previously elected are Evelyn Green, president; Dorothy Bazemore, vice-president; and Jane Simmons, secretary. The second and fourth Fridays of each month were selected as the time for the regular meetings to be held at seven P. M. in Terrell big parlor.

Smile

We cannot, of course, all be handsome, And it's hard for us all to be good, We are sure, now and then, to be lonely, And we don't always do as we should;

To be patient is not always easy, To be cheerful is much harder still, But at least we can always be pleasant, If we make up our minds that we will.

And it pays every time to be kind-ly, Although we feel worried and blue, If you smile at the world and look cheerful

The world will soon smile back at you. So try to brace up and look pleasant, No matter how long you are down, Good humor is always contagious, You banish your friends when you frown.

Corinthian Sponsors Writing Contest

All students are invited to contribute poems, stories, or essays to the annual contest which is held by the Corinthian to select the best literary work of the year by a freshman, and by an upperclassman.

Material may be handed to Julia Rucker, Atkinson Hall, or Thelma Williams, Terrell A. The student's name should be enclosed in a sealed envelope attached to the paper.

The contest is open now, and will be open until the third of November. Two persons not connected with the college, and one member of the faculty will be judges.

New Books Received By Relations Club

The International Relations club has received six new books from the Carnegie endowment. These books have been placed in the library.

The books that were sent are: "Soviet State" by B. W. Maxwell, "Air Menace and Answer" by E. K. Fradkin, "European War Debts" by Wildon Lloyd, "New Governments in Europe" by R. L. Buell, "Between Two Worlds" by N. M. Butler, "Heritage of Freedom" by J. T. Shotwell, "Crisis Government" by Hart.

Full Fashioned—Pure Thread
SILK HOSE
49c A PAIR
MILLER'S

Anne Wells Chosen Sophomore Mascot

The sophomore class has officially chosen little Miss Anne Wells as its class mascot.

Miss Wells first participated in class activities on the day the sophomores played the freshmen in volleyball. Anne, dressed in the class colors, and wearing a white ribbon with "Sponsor" written across it in green letters, was taken to the game by the president of the sophomores. She occupied the most prominent seat on the grandstand and during the half, to the tune of the class song, she led a grand march.

Little Miss Wells, the daughter of President and Mrs. Guy H. Wells, is a platinum blonde, five years old, and a student in the first grade of the Peabody Practice School.

Ramsey Has

(Continued from page 1)

In my opinion the most pitiful words that ever fell from the lips of man in fiction or in life were uttered by Othello as he looked at the wife he had murdered: "Oh, Desdemona, Desdemona! Remember I kissed thee ere I killed thee."

In reading the great masters, one sees one's own character, and an understanding of one's aspirations and thoughts are revealed. Wilbur Herbert Carruth best expresses this in his poem, "Each in His Own Tongue." That the poet Riley is a unique portrayer of character is revealed in two poems which the speaker quoted. Professor Ramsey also pointed out that Browning's "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" is itself a revelation of human nature.

Concluding his speech with Poullison's poem, "Books are Keys to Wisdom's Treasure," Professor Ramsey received one of the heartiest encores ever given by a G. S. C. W. audience.

HISTORY CLUB ELECTS NEW COMMITTEE HEADS

The history club has recently made the following chairmen of the various committees: social, Florence Knight, Social Circle; program, Elise Adams, Vidalia; membership, Lois Pangle, Tunnel Hill; time and place, Selia Smith, Fort Myers; and bulletin, Helen Foster, Monroe.

Blessing In Disguise Visits Jessies Remain Here For Holidays

Last Friday afternoon 666 happy people waved a cherry good-by, grabbed 666 half-packed bags and rushed away for a hilarious weekend with the home folks and their own particular heart-throbs. The entire afternoon the campus was astir with girls, busses, and automobiles all in a mad rush to depart. How those poor unfortunate left behind envied them and watched their departure eagerly and yet longingly.

The dining hall looked as if nearly all G. S. C. had overleapt. At church, Sunday, nobody had any trouble in finding a seat.

Monday morning 666 students made sleepy replies to the queries of their teachers. Maybe those left behind were not so unfortunate, after all. At least they were conscious of their surroundings.

Novel Hide and Seek Game Introduced

An innocent pedestrian passing Bell dormitory last Thursday morning doubted his mental intelligence upon seeing one of the students earnestly shaking a tree, in the vicinity of the dormitory. The next procedure was a "hide and seek" game. Myra Jenkins was dashing madly from tree to tree and anxiously searching the "top-most foliage" for that mysterious something. Well, it was all like this. Myra had started to class and when she was half way between Bell dormitory and Parks hall, she suddenly discovered that she had forgotten the "all important" cooking card. Rather than walk up to second floor she conceived the idea of her room-mate throwing the card from the window.

In contrast to Myra's wish of "happy landings," the cooking card settled in the top of a tree. Myra was frantic and she almost dislodged the tree from its foundation in an attempt to locate the card. Anxious observers from the windows reported that the card fell down through the leaves. Then, began the endless searching in all the trees and shrubbery for the card which "never returned." It had absolutely disappeared. It seems that even cooking cards can bring disillusion.

Miss Horsbrugh Goes to Music Club Meet

Miss Beatrice Horsbrugh attended the meeting of the Georgia Federation of Music club in Macon last week. While there Miss Horsbrugh was elected state chairman of the Junior Orchestra Ensembles.

There is to be a mass orchestra of young players at the junior convention next spring in Macon. At this time Miss Horsbrugh hopes to take over a group of violinists to enter the contest.

Geography Club Hikes to Calloway

On Saturday afternoon, October 14, the members of the Geography club hiked to Calloway woods, a lovely spot about two miles out of Milledgeville.

After an excursion through the surrounding woods, a delightful supper was prepared over an open fire made on the large flat rocks, which served as excellent furnaces.

Those enjoying the occasion were: Mrs. Dorris, Sarah Miller, Mary Summerour, Ruth Ennis, Marjorie Hodges, Eleanor Davis, Selma Robinett and Janette Adams.

Play Equipment Added To Peabody

Swings, see-saws, and giant strides now adorn the campus of Peabody Practice School. These not only have added to the attractiveness of the grounds, but have greatly increased, in the pupils, a desire for healthful play.

If one may judge by what one sees, every child is enjoying the new equipment; in fact, it even seems as if there will have to be a time schedule for each group to use the play ground, in order that all may have an equal opportunity to take part in this new type recreation.

PATRONIZE
OUR
ADVERTISERS

Through the Week With The Y. W. C. A.

The presentation of the Y budget took place in chapel last Monday. A short skit was presented in which Y executives explained the financial needs of their respective departments. Pledge cards were given out after the skit.

Vespers Sunday night were given over to the girls who went from the campus to the Methodist Conference. Mildred Stewart was in charge of the program.

Most of the Y committees have met this week. A few are late in meeting, due to illness of the chairman and other unavoidable reasons. Watch for announcement about the meeting of your committee. It's still not too late to join one.

On Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 31 the entire student body had supper served them by the college at Nesbitt Woods. All during the afternoon before supper the Y sponsored a carnival at which there were entertainments various and sundry. Drinks, candy, hamburgers, and regular "circus food" were sold. There were side shows, booths, rides, an auction, and a song audience program. Did you see the substitution for the World's Fair Greyhound System? And did prospects for the Y seem brighter? Guess the answer.

Dr. Johnson Honors History Majors

Dr. Amanda Johnson entertained the senior history majors at a theater party Tuesday afternoon. George Arliss was playing in "The House of Rothschild."

Among those in the party were: Sheila Smith, Mary Carolyn Carmichael, Sue Colquitt, Elizabeth Alford, Katherine Childers, Mary Goldstein, Edith Allen, Lois Pangle, Marie Pinkerton, Martha Thompson, Frances Kamp, Edith Perry, Marjorie Hodges, Frances Martin, and Elise Adams.

Hallowe'en

(Continued from page 1)
nuts, etc. Immediately after supper the big event of the evening, an auction sale, took place. Food-stuff, clothing, cosmetics, jewelry, and theater tickets, contributed by the various business houses of the town, were knocked off to the highest bidder with great gusto, rival parties dashing to outbid each other. Then followed the drawing for the cakes, won by Dr. Little and Miss Nixon, respectively.

At the last the pep band gave a musical concert, and various students rendered solos and dances. As the last number, "Farewell Ladies" was played, 1100 students joined in with all the voice their exertions had left them and began to wind their way homeward.

BIBLE STUDY CLASS OFFICERS CHOSEN

The officers of Dr. Harry Little's Bible class were elected recently at the regular meeting. Pauline Derrick, senior, was elected president, Faye Pilkenton, a junior, vice-president, and Josephine White, a freshman, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Ethel Adams Speaks to Girls

Miss Ethel Adams, dean of women, spoke to the Ennis Hall girls on Tuesday night, October 23. Her address was on student government, in her opinion the most challenging movement on the campus.

"Student government," she said, "is simply control from within instead of from without. It is a spirit, a desire to work together for the good of the greatest number."

Miss Adams stressed the point that no privilege is ever received without an accompanying proportionate obligation. The privilege of student government entails the obligation of individual self-government. To facilitate, student government regulations are necessary; but according to the dean, "the best governed group is one that needs the fewest rules."

Miss Adams concluded with the following inspirational appeal for cooperation. "G. S. C. W.'s standards depend on the ideals she realizes. Student government is the highest conception of standards. As our accomplishments in self government increase, our ideals will rise. As we start up this hill, our vision should broaden, our standards should become higher until G. S. C. W. assumes her place among the colleges of the nation."

President Addresses Barnesville Audience

Dr. Guy H. Wells made an address on "The Modern High School," at Barnesville, Tuesday, October 24.

According to Dr. Wells, "stress in the modern high school should be placed on athletics, culture, music, manners, discipline, and English rather than on regulation subjects such as mathematics, science, and history."

Biology Club Gives Hallowe'en Party

The biology club entertained at a Hallowe'en party at the "cabin in the pines" at Nesbitt woods on Saturday night from 8 till 10.

The proverbial "spooky" games were played, and the cabin was decorated with witches and black cats.

Good Library At Peabody High

One of the chief interests and sources of pride among the Peabody students is the high school library. The personnel of the library staff consists of: Miss Redding, the English instructor, who is library adviser; Dorothy Veatch, the chief student librarian, who as such has a seat in Student Council; and a group of student librarians, one of whom is on duty at each period of the day. A regular system for using and checking out books is employed. At the present, the library boasts over six hundred books. On the whole, it is a source of help and pleasure to the students.

Recently, the library has inaugurated a campaign the purpose of which is to arouse in the students an interest in vocabulary building. A different word is posted each day for the students to discover its meaning, and to learn its use in their speech.

Which Bible Study Class Will You Attend

Bible study classes will meet on Sunday mornings in the following places:

Bell parlor, Miss Alice Napier, teacher. Her subject will be "Christian Growth."

Tearoom, Miss Polly Moss, teacher. This class will have the introductory lesson to the study of the life of Christ as told in the fourth gospel.

Auditorium stage, Dr. Thomas B. Meadows, teacher. Dr. Meadows will lead a discussion on the "Lord's Prayer."

Atkinson parlor, Dr. Harry A. Little, teacher. The lesson will be the regular discussion taken from the International quarterly.

Ennis recreation hall, Dr. Guy H. Wells, teacher. This class is trying a new plan of using typed sheets so that each member can enter into the discussion of the lesson.

Lost and Found

(Continued from page 1)

she had while she was in Macon last weekend. From the number of specials she has received she must have "made a little time," too.

The whole student body and faculty lost track of time during Mr. Ramsey's talk in chapel Wednesday.

Leta Boynton lost her nerve and didn't make that long distance telephone call she was supposed to while she was at home last weekend.

Hazel Cobb lost her balance when she was getting off the train in Macon Monday morning and as a result she is hobbling around on a crutch.

Billy Howington loses too much time going from meeting to meeting. It's a pity people can't find enough for Billy to do to keep her busy.

Weldon Seals lost herself in dreams just about the time Dr. Johnson decided to call on her. Reading mail before ten o'clock classes often affects people that way.

Martha Williams loses time outlining twenty-five pages for a certain class,—time which she would like to be spending "making time" with Buck.

Vi James' voice was lost somewhere in the vastness of the auditorium Wednesday night.

Betty Reed lost her power of expression when she was stating what she wanted to be written in this column.

Somebody lost the chapel bell at the carnival, Wednesday, where it was used for "bells of G. S. C. W."

DR. WELLS ATTENDS MEET IN ATLANTA

Dr. Wells attended a political science conference in Atlanta Friday and Saturday at the Biltmore hotel. He led a discussion on civic training with special reference to teachers.

GRANDDAUGHTERS CLUB HONOR FROSH AT PICNIC

Upper classmen in the Granddaughters club entertained the freshmen granddaughters Friday afternoon with a picnic to Calloway Woods. Those attending met in front of Chappel hall and hiked to the woods, about two miles away, where an out-door supper was enjoyed.

The Tea Room

"Come, eat, and have a good time," said a G. S. C. W. student. Where? The tea room—and why? The reasons are numerous.

The college tea room, a very attractive division of Bell Hall, is the social center of the campus. The girls entertain their friends and gather there for "chats." If a cool drink is necessary on a hot day, then to the tea room for it. Nearly every article of food on the menu is five cents. Occasionally special plates are prepared for ten and fifteen cents. Sometimes the collegiate quartette furnishes music. If they don't there is always a piano, anyway.

The tea room is opened every day from four to six o'clock.

Literary Guild Gives Tea in Ennis Rec Hall

The Literary guild entertained Saturday afternoon, October 27, in honor of new members who are majors or minors in English, in the Ennis recreation hall at 5 o'clock. Anne Arnett, Newnan, presided. Nan Glass, Atlanta, had charge of the program and entertainment.

During the afternoon Laeta Sanders, Commerce, gave a synopsis of "Berkley Square." Two scenes were dramatized under the direction of Catherine Mallory, Savannah. Those in the cast were: Peter Standish, Catherine Mallory, Savannah; Kate Pettigrew, Marion Hartshorn, Griffin; Marjorie Grant, Margaret Holsenbeck, Gray; Throstle, Mary Agnes Stapleton, Stapleton; Helen Pettigrew, Jo Calhoun, Columbus; Ambassador, Emily Cowart, Union City; Tom Pettigrew, Rosa Blue Williams, Fort Valley; Lady Anne Pettigrew, Patricia Madden, Concord; and Mrs. Barwick, Catherine Childers, Milner.

Faculty members present were Miss Winifred Crowell and Miss Annette Steele.

Later in the evening get-acquainted games were played and delightful refreshments were served.

PATRONIZE
OUR
ADVERTISERS

Two of Oldest Campus Clubs Present Chapel Program

Tuesday morning chapel exercise was turned over to members of the alumnae and Granddaughters club for a program.

Miss Mary Lee Anderson spoke briefly on the history of the college and the founding of the alumnae. The aim, it was declared, "to serve G. S. C. W." Miss Anderson said that there were two ideals for which a student should live: the student should have a deep-rooted, sincere, and lasting love for her college and its welfare, and she must also have a sense of service.

In bringing out the practical part, Miss Anderson said: "Success is measured largely by the success of the product which it turns out and on the shoulders of the alumnae rests making it good. College reputation does not end when one leaves college doors, but it begins.

"Our selfish side is the value of a degree. Our diploma depends upon the reputation and professional standing of our college."

Dr. Daniels At Kiwanis Meeting

Dr. Francis Daniels attended the State Kiwanis convention at Columbus, October 18-20. The convention headquarters were at the Ralston Hotel and the sessions were held in the old post office building.

On Thursday evening he attended the club officer's dinner.

The sessions began Friday morning. There first were speeches of welcome and responses, followed by the Governor's message and a long discussion of the "Special Kiwanis Objective." It was determined "To give primacy to the human and spiritual rather than to the material values of life." In the afternoon three other answers were given; (1) "To encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships; (2) "To promote the adoption and the application of higher social, business, and professional standards; (3) "To develop by precept our and example a more intelligent, aggressive and servicable citizenship."

The Kiwanis special objectives were (1) "The maintenance of adequate educational facilities;" (2) "To provide through Kiwanis clubs a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render altruistic service and to build better communities;" and (3) "To cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high justice, patriotism, and good will."

In the selection of officers for the coming year, Dr. Daniels was elected Lieutenant Governor of the fifth division, which included the Kiwanis clubs of Fort Valley, Cordele, Macon, Milledgeville, and Montezuma. Gordon G. Singleton, chairman of the district program committee in proposing Dr. Daniels for the position said: "None of us on the stage are more than ninety-five percent Kiwanians; Dr. Daniels is a one hundred percent Kiwanian. He gave at Macon the best speech ever give before the Kiwanis club there."

Friday afternoon was spent at Fort Benning, eight miles south of Columbus. Here a magnificent parade was given by the troops stationed there. Dinner was served in the officers club there and was followed by a dance. The convention closed at Saturday noon.

Miss Katherine Weaver, secretary of the alumnae; Miss Gussie Tabb, member of the executive board of the alumnae; and Miss Louise Smith, first vice-president and chairman of activity commission were introduced.

Miss Smith discussed the activities of the Granddaughters last year and the membership of the club. Last year the club had an enrollment of sixty-six. This membership is composed of those students whose mothers attended this college.

Officers of the club were introduced. These are: Miss Dorothy Ellis, Monticello, president; Miss Virginia Oliver, College Park, vice-president; Miss Rosa Blue Williams, Buena Vista, secretary; and Miss Dot Brewton, Vidalia, treasurer.

Miss Virginia Oliver discussed the purpose of the club. This purpose is to create and enjoy happy friendship based on the fact that our mothers were fellow students in this college.

Feminine Reporters Surprise Dr. Wynn

Dr. William Wynn was somewhat shocked on entering his journalism class room last Wednesday morning to find that there was no class. Only empty chairs confronted him. Apparently the class was enjoying an off-day. The professor scratched his head. True, he had been out of town for some while, but if he remembered correctly this was Wednesday and not Friday. And if it was Wednesday and not Friday, why the off-day? Just then he glanced at his desk. It was littered with cards of all descriptions. The first one which he chanced to read wished him a happy birthday. A flicker of an idea dawned on the professor. He had picked up a second card when across the hall came the clatter of many feet and his would be journalists greeted their dignified English professor with the childish strains of "Happy Birthday to You." Dr. Wynn declined to tell his age. He does not yet trust women news reporters.

COLLEGIATE PRATTLE

The new form of greeting in vogue on the P. C. campus is "What say?" The recipient of the greeting answers "All right!" Both of them hold up one outstretched finger while speaking. Pretty cute, huh?

And there's the P. C. freshman who took his car to school in order to facilitate getting into the fraternity he desired. When the ruse was successful, he announced that the car would be home the rest of the year.

At all the universities in Japan there are only 35 students.—Mercer Cluster.

The Mercer Cluster reports the embarrassing plight of two co-eds who "bummed" a ride home one afternoon with a very nice looking gentleman, who they thought must be a traveling salesman. Upon asking where he was from—just to make a little conversation—they were informed that he was a Mercer professor! Tsk, tsk.

F. S. C. W. gives its freshmen an orientation examination. Those who fail to pass are automatically campused for two weeks. This year only sixteen failed, while forty made grades of 99. Wonder how many of us could pass a G. S. C. W. orientation exam?

A good woman wants a man's actions to be honorable, and his intentions to be strictly puzzling.—Red and Black. But we do enjoy trying to solve the puzzle!

The Tech Y has completed plans to begin showing at an early date the latest and best sound pictures available on astronomy, geology, literature and drama, chemistry, biology, travel, religion, etc. Some of the pictures are: "Einstein's Theory of Relativity," "Glass Magic," "From Egg to Butterfly," "Mystery of Life"—Clarence Darrow's review of the animal kingdom; "His Master's Voice"—a history of the transmission of music; and in the field of literature, drama, and biology, such classics as "Davis Copperfield," "Othello," "Rip Van Winkle," and others. Sounds very enlightening, doesn't it?

Methodist Students In Conference

G. S. C. W. was represented at the Georgia Methodist Student Conference in Atlanta the week-end of October nineteenth by Miss Mary Louise Dunn and Miss Milledred Stewart.

The meeting was held at Emory University with Emory and Agnes Scott as hosts of the occasion. Those attending were entertained in the two colleges and private homes.

The conference began Friday night with a banquet and closed Sunday at noon with the Church service.

Dr. Shelton Smith from Duke University was the main speaker for the conference. The theme of the conference was "Dare a Student be a Christian?" Besides these addresses there were different interest groups. These groups studied and discussed various things such as amusements and the modern crisis, war and peace in the world crisis, race relations, and others.

This conference was attended by students from colleges all over the state, all of which were working with a common interest of doing their best on the campus. Technique periods were provided for the discussion of the religious activities on the campuses and the exchanging of helpful ideas.

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA CHOOSES LEADERS

At a recent business meeting the college orchestra elected the following officers: Miss Natalie Purdom, Blackshear, president; Miss Mabel Brophy, West Palm Beach, Florida, vice-president; Miss Mary Carolyn Carmichael, Comer, secretary; and Miss Loretta Wright, Atlanta, treasurer. Miss Dorothy Ellis, Monticello, is the pianist. Miss Beatrice Horsburgh directs the orchestra.

COLLEGE LIBRARY GROWS FROM ONE ROOM TO ENTIRE BUILDING

The following paragraph is quoted from the First Annual Announcement and Catalogue of The Georgia Normal and Industrial College, Milledgeville, Georgia, 1891-2:

"The College Library is an important adjunct to the institution and an invaluable aid to its work. It occupies one of the nicest rooms on the first floor of the building (Main) and is amply furnished with shelves, tables, chairs, etc. It now contains about two thousand volumes, most of them contributions from the friends of the institution. No part of the State appropriation or the regular revenue of the college goes to the library. It has been gotten up entirely by the efforts of the faculty and student body, and for its future growth and progress must depend altogether upon the contribution of friends."

The library was then located in a large room on the first floor of the original main building, destroyed by fire in 1924. Before 1924 it was moved to the basement of Terrell Annex A where it remained until the fall of 1932, when a new and separate building was completed. The library was then named the Ina Dillard Russell Library in honor of Mrs. Russell, the mother of Richard B. Russell, for-

Mr. Beers, Assistant To Chancellor Weltner Visits G. S. C. W.

Mr. F. S. Beers, new examiner of university system of Georgia and formerly connected with the University of Minnesota, paid a business visit to the G. S. C. W. campus last Friday and Saturday.

The office held by Mr. Beers is a new addition to the university system. He is assistant to Chancellor Philip Weltner. His work will be with the organization and coordination of junior college survey courses. This system is being tried at G. S. C. W. this year for the first time.

The new examiner is on a tour of the colleges in the state university system to investigate the efficiency and result of the new survey courses.

While on the campus he discussed plans with the faculty who expressed their views concerning the new course of study.

Mr. Beers' headquarters will be in the offices of the Board of Regents in Atlanta Georgia.

French Club Meeting At Calloway Woods

Despite the uncooked food, for which the Entre Nous French club was recently indicted, Dr. Sidney McGee suffered no ill effects from the club's first outing, which took place Friday afternoon, October 26, at Callaway Woods.

This fact is due perhaps to the fact that Mrs. McGee supervised the preparation of the cookery.—Editors Note.

Because of the assistance of Miss Patty Turner, French students were safely enabled to walk the log near Callaway Woods and to return to G. S. C. W. campus with no casualties listed. Briar scratches are said to be the most serious injuries incurred.

PATRONIZE
OUR
ADVERTISERS

mer governor of Georgia.

This new building has a seating capacity of approximately four hundred and contains about 25,000 books, with provision for future expansion. It is provided with the best up-to-date equipment. Through the library science department, it is now possible for students to take twelve hours in library science, with courses in cataloging and classification, reference, the school library, and a half course of actual practice work. Dr. J. Henry Highsmith, chairman of the library committee of the Southern Association, recently inspected the library and recommended the immediate approval of it by his committee.

Gifts have been made by many people, among whom were Dr. T. M. Hall and L. C. Hall; Misses Loretta and Ruth Chappell, daughters of Dr. J. Harris Chappell, first president of G. S. C. W.; Mrs. Marvin M. Parks, wife of the second president; and the daughters of Mrs. Alberta T. Gould, former librarian, who have established a memorial fund to buy travel and geography books.

At this time the library staff consists of Miss Virginia Satterfield, head librarian; Misses Jimmie Deck and Helen Hagan; and a member of student assistants.